
SPICE APP SPRINT 3

— Alan Manning, Donald Lochbiler, —
Logan Dawkins, Ryan Simpson

Spice is the App that helps you decide where to eat.
We showed you customized searches.
Now you can use Spice App with Friends

Sprint Goals and Backlog

- Make Spice a Social App
 - Contacts
 - Chats
 - Groups/Events
- Find and resolve issues
- Enhance UI
- Improve Search Results
- Progress meters, Splash screens and loading screens
- J-unit Testing

ID	Story	Estimation (hours)	Priority	Finished (Bool)
12	Private Chats	7	1	1
13	Group Chats	7	1	1
14	Group Events	15	1	1
15	Add photos to chats & contacts	2	3	1
16	add google maps	2	3	1
17	add transitions/update UI	5	3	1

SPRINT RETROSPECTIVE

WHAT WENT WELL

- Achieving the goals that we had set for sprint 3.
- Completed the desired functionality for the app.
- Created and finished the backend requirements for the app's groups and events functionality.
- Created chat feature, group chat feature, and events social features.

WHAT DIDN'T GO WELL

- Distribution of work between members
- Issue with default preference for new users
- Issue with place location for uploading group event to Firebase
- Dependencies and new code additions
- Working with Firebase to upload group events

WHAT COULD BE IMPROVED

- More unit testing in the beginning
- More meetings for tasks other than Scrum.
- Error detection within code and more modular development of code.

SPRINT 3 RESULTS

SOCIAL FEATURES

AND

UPDATED UI

- Users can now add other users as contacts
- Users can chat with contacts, individually or in groups
- Create Events for users to collectively decide on restaurant.

- Enhanced search results
- Directions to restaurant when clicking accept
- Splash screens
- Loading Screens
- More sleek design
- Better layout for profile page

J-UNIT TESTS

- Testing the creation of Events by:
 - Testing adding users
 - Testing naming the event
 - Testing returning users and name of event
- Testing the creation of a Group by:
 - Testing the setting of the group name
 - Testing returning the name of the group

Check out our Website

Visit <https://aam659.github.io/SpiceApp/>

Download the App and Try it for yourself